LAST TIME OUT

The Checkers opened February with a tough home loss against the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins on Saturday, February 1st. Charlotte never led in the game, though they managed to even the score on two separate occasions, ultimately giving up the game winner to Pens forward Jonathan Gruden midway through the third. Patrick Giles netted his fifth goal of the season, his third shorthanded, while Will Lockwood lit the lamp to extend his goal streak to three straight, and Matt Kiersted lead all Checkers with two points. Charlotte nearly doubled Wilkes-Barre/Scranton in shots, firing off 31 to their opponents' 16, but it wasn't enough to earn the two points. Ken Appleby took the loss in goal stopping 13 of those 16 shots that he faced and both teams were 0-for-2 on their man advantages.

SHORTHANDED STRENGTH

With Patrick Giles' third shorthanded goal of the season, the Checkers have now logged twelve on the season, far and away the top mark in the American Hockey League. Three Checkers have multiple shorthanded goals this season including Giles (3), Rasmus Asplund (2), and John Leonard (4). Not only does Leonard lead the league with six total shorthanded points, his four goals puts him into a tie with Warren Foegel for most in a single-season by a Checker. For Giles, he now has six total shorthanded goals which is only three behind Captain Zac Dalpe for most all-time for the Checkers.

KEEPIN' IT CLOSE

Charlotte's 3-2 loss on Saturday was just their third regulation loss in one-goal games. Their overall record is 10-3-3-2 in games that finish with one marker separating the winner and the defeated. By comparison, their 18 games that have finished within one-goal is double the amount of games that have been separated by two-goals (4-5-0-0) and almost double the amount of three-goal games (5-5-0-0) that they've competed in.

KIERSTED COMING THROUGH

With his two assists on Saturday, Matt Kiersted tied his 2023-24 season total in 16 less games. Though he's still looking for his first goal of the year, the stout defenseman has logged four points in his last three games, and has three total multi-point nights this season. His plus-minus is also sitting at +18 which is best on the team and tied for fifth best in the AHL amongst defenseman.

HARTFORD HEADACHES

Though the Checkers have had decent success against the Atlantic Division on the whole this season, the Wolf Pack have proven to give the Checkers fits this season. Charlotte is 15-8-3-2 against all Atlantic Division teams but are still looking for their first win against the Wolf Pack this season after going 0-2-1-1 in their previous meetings. In their most recent contest, the Checkers were shutout by Dylan Garand back on January 19th at Bojangles Coliseum.
